Mrs. Nellie Carver McNeeley Died Monday Afternoon—Accident on North Main Street.

After an illness of several weeks the life of Mrs. Nellie Carver McNeeley came to a close at her late home, No. 128 Smith avenue, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

On July 5, 1899 she was united into marriage with Joseph McNeeley by Rev. James J. Smith and she is survived by her husband, Joseph and Harold and two brothers and two sisters, William R. Carver of New York, Michael P. Carver of New London and Miss Catherine A. Carver of this city and Mrs. G. L. Heller of Elizabeth, N. J. Mrs. McNeeley was an ideal mother, sister and friend, and her loss will be sincerely mourned.

Trolley Car Hits Wagon.

The 10:45 northbound trolley car struck a delivery wagon of John G. Potter on North Main street early this morning, practically demolishing the vehicle. The contents of the wagon were spread over the ground and the driver escaped with minor injuries when freed from the wagon ran away, but was stopped in the vicinity of the streetcar and Wood yard.

It appears that the driver of the wagon was on the left hand side of the street and made an effort to cross in front of the car, both going in the same direction. After starting across the street the driver of the delivery wagon started to turn back. He had not sufficient time to make it and was struck squarely by the car.

Peter J. Masket of Yonkers was a visitor here Monday.

Alabama Jubilee Minstrels a Big Success—Had Big Audience—Notes.

The Cornerstone club of Taftville Congregational church staged its annual musical entertainment last evening in Ponemah hall which was taxed to its capacity. The entertainment was called the Alabama Jubilee minstrel and the performance made a big hit, every number being applauded by the large enthusiastic audience.

Following the minstrel dancing was enjoyed until 12 o'clock with refreshments served. The music was furnished by a three piece orchestra. The novelty act, the Alabama minstrels brought the house down with their applause, the act being carried out very artistically.

The end men, Victor H. Davis and Arthur Schofield kept the audience in good humor, cracking witty and very laughable jokes. The magic surgery proved a fun maker, introducing Professor Oseero from Zanzibar, assisted by Professors Wyndolde and Davio. Fred Dugas, a talented rolling actor, gave a fine exhibition on the wheels which added much to the programme. Before the curtain was raised the entire troupe sang "Old Folks at Home" and the remainder of the programme followed.

Alabama Jubilee, chorus, Lonesome Melody, Robert M. Brierly; At the Five and Ten Cent Store, John W. Eaton; The Song of the Open Sea, John W. Brierly; When I Was a Dreamer, Samuel L. Armitage; When I Leave the World Behind, Oscar Heinrich, musical director; In the Heart of a Rose, Fred E. Knowles; Underneath the Southern Moon, George P. Havens; Dancing Underneath the Irish Moon, chorus.

Side Lights.
Fred Dugas, novelty roller skating act; Victor H. Davis and Arthur W. Schofield, end men in latest jokes; The Magic Surgery, introducing Professor Oseero from Zanzibar, assisted by Professors Wyndolde and Davio; accompanist Miss Mary D. Torrance.

In the chorus were Allan Bogie, Archibald Torrance, Richard Haberding and Harry Jervis. The troupe which was under the direction of Oscar Heinrich and he deserved much credit for the smoothness in which the minstrel were staged.

The dance committee were the following: Richard Haberding, chairman, George Havens, Robert Brierly, reception committee, Allan Bogie, John Brierly, Samuel Armitage and Fred Knowles.

The following young ladies ably assisted: Ice cream, Misses Amie Pollard, Ruth Mays, Elsie Kinder, Ruth Pollard, dance tickets, Agnes Graham, Lizzie Skinner, Edna Hannan, Carrie Edwards, orangeade, Mary Skinner. At the door George Beardon and Rev. Arthur Varley. The performance was a big success and the club will realize a neat sum.

PROTEST OVER CHANGE OF TRAIN

Board of Trade to Send Delegation to New Haven Officials—Citizens Don't Like to See Route of State of Maine Express Changed.

That the removal of the State of Maine express from the New London and Norwich route to the Connecticut river line is a detriment to the local mail service, was the basis of the protest to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company against the removal of the train.

The meeting was called to order a few minutes after 8 o'clock by President Frank J. King and Secretary Henry Tibbitts read the minutes of the last meeting. President King then announced that the meeting had been called more especially for the purpose of discussing the removal of the State of Maine express train and although the change has been made and it would hardly be possible to bring the express back, yet the meeting could protest.

In answer to a question as to why the express was removed President King said he had been told that it was because freight trains bothered the running time of the express.

Effect on the Mail Service.
Postmaster Murphy, who was present, was questioned as to what effect the removal of the express had on the local mail service. Postmaster Murphy said that now the mails get here on the train due at 5:55 a. m. in former years the mails used to get in from Boston and New York on the Central Vermont train due here at 5:15 a. m., which gave plenty of time to have the mail all up in the boxes and ready for the carrier at 7 o'clock. The time of arrival for the Central Vermont morning train was made 6:30 o'clock, which gave the carrier time to get the mail ready for 7 o'clock. Postmaster Murphy made application to the officials, with the result that mails were brought here by the State of Maine express. At first the mails averaged two or three pouches, but they soon jumped to 20 pouches. The mail was all in the postoffice by 5 a. m., which gave the carrier opportunity to have it ready for delivery by 7 o'clock. The mails are daily increasing, especially the parcel post, and the time of arrival now does not give time enough to get the mail ready by 7 o'clock. It is expected that the mail will be about an hour late after the removal of the express. Postmaster Murphy said that if the express had been permanent he expected to have a collection made late at night, possibly as late as midnight, so that letters mailed here at that time would be delivered in New York and Boston early the next morning.

President King said: There is an inclination on the part of the road to cut us out; I don't know why. It seems as though we ought to have at least one express train a day. It was then moved that the Board of Trade enter a formal protest to the N. Y. N. H. & H. railroad against the removal of the express.

Questions Sidewalk Ownership.
J. D. Haviland made inquiry about the ownership of sidewalks. His question was prompted through newspaper advertisements that appear at this time of the year ordering residents and property owners to clear their walks. Mr. Haviland said he is perfectly willing to look after the walk in front of his property, but he would like the Board of Trade to take some action to find out where the responsibility lies. I would like to know whether I own the sidewalk or whether the city owns the sidewalk, said Mr. Haviland. This request was referred to the public improvements committee.

Lights Not as Bright as Before.
President King said there is some question as to whether we are getting as much light on Broadway and Washington street as formerly. Stephen J. Kehoe, superintendent of the municipal gas and electric plant, said that it was possible there is some difference in the light. The lamps used are 11 years old and are becoming obsolete. The new style lamps, such as those on Broadway, are being installed as rapidly as possible and soon as the finances permit the new lights will be carried right through. The new lamps furnish more light and at a cheaper rate, he said.

Reference was made by President King to the recent criticism of the good humor, cracking witty and very laughable jokes. The magic surgery proved a fun maker, introducing Professor Oseero from Zanzibar, assisted by Professors Wyndolde and Davio. Fred Dugas, a talented rolling actor, gave a fine exhibition on the wheels which added much to the programme. Before the curtain was raised the entire troupe sang "Old Folks at Home" and the remainder of the programme followed.

Extension School of Agriculture Organized
At Preston City—N. H. Hall Chosen Temporary Chairman

A meeting of the signers and endorsers of the extension school of agriculture was held Saturday evening in Preston City. County Agent F. C. Warner called the meeting to order at 8:15 and gave Extension Director Irving G. Davis the floor. The latter explained the method of organizing the school. Mr. Davis presented an outline for temporary organization which the meeting voted to adopt.

The call for nominations for temporary chairman whose duties it shall be to preside at all meetings and at the opening and closing of the school, resulted in the selection of N. H. Hall. The secretary is asked to keep a record of all meetings and the activities of the organization and to make reports to the extension service officer on same and to send announcement of the school to surrounding towns and villages. This office is to be filled by W. D. Copp.

Committee on accommodations and entertainment: E. P. Barnes, chairman; L. M. Keniston, Helen E. Miller, committee on arrangement for halls, etc.; A. E. Shedd, chairman; E. L. Barnes, A. P. Bennett; committee on advertising and membership: A. E. Burdick, chairman; W. D. Copp, G. Warren Davis, Mrs. E. P. Barnes, Mrs. A. R. Reynolds, Mrs. E. G. Pendleton.

The ladies are to select a committee of arrangements for the home economics course later. That this would be the first extension school in the state, and complimentary Preston on its prompt work and enthusiastic cooperation in securing the school, which in large measure was due to the efforts of N. H. Hall. He recited the great value to the community in bringing unity of thought and influence on the question of farming. In one instance, Mr. Davis stated, "the school resulted in the establishment of an agricultural school in the school." The school will begin, Tuesday, Jan. 4, 1916 at 8 o'clock. Each lecture lasts one hour, 40 minutes given to lectures, 15 minutes for discussion and 5 minutes for intermission. Everyone can profit by attending regularly and especially so by freely taking part in the discussions.
